

Just as the Sun Went Down
 On the dim and dusky
 Just as the sun went down
 When the soldiers lay
 One held a ringlet of thin gray hair
 One held a lock of brown
 Bidding each other a last farewell
 Just as the sun went down.
CHORUS:
 One that of mother at home alone,
 Feeble and old and gray,
 One of a sweetheart he left in town,
 Happy and young and gay.
 One kissed a ringlet of thin gray hair,
 One kissed a lock of brown,
 Bidding farewell to the stars and stripes,
 Just as the sun went down.
 One knew the joy of a mother's love,
 One of a sweetheart fair;
 Thinking of home they lay side by side,
 Breathing a farewell prayer;
 One for his mother, so old and gray,
 One for his love in town,
 They closed their eyes to earth and skies,
 Just as the sun went down.
CHORUS.

The Girl I Loved in Sunny Tennessee.
 On a morning bright and clear,
 From my old home I drew near,
 That a village down in sunny Tennessee,
 She was speeding on a train,
 When I would bring me back again,
 To my sweetheart who was waiting there for me.
 It was but a few short years,
 Since I'd kissed away her tears,
 As I left her at my dear old mother's side;
 And each day we've been apart,
 She's grown dearer to my heart,
 Than the night I asked of her to be my bride.
CHORUS:
 I could hear the darkies singing, as she said farewell
 To me;
 As I crossed the fields of cotton, my old homestead I
 Could see;
 When the moon rose in its glory,
 There I told life's sweetest story,
 Of the girl I loved in sunny Tennessee.
 As the train drew up at last,
 Old familiar scenes I pass'd,
 And I kissed my mother at the station door;
 But old friends gathered 'round,
 Tears on every face I found,
 And I missed the one that I'd been longing for.
 As I whispered, "Mother, dear,
 Where is Mary? She's not here!"
 "All the world seem'd lost, and sadness came to me;
 For she pointed to a spot,
 Where my sweetheart sleeps in sunny Tennessee."
CHORUS.

Death of Chester M. Deming
 Chester M. Deming was a son of Luther and Sally Deming and was born in 1837, in Watertown, N. Y., and came to this county in 1838. He died in Ellicottville, Sept. 27, 1909.
 He was engaged in farming when the call for volunteers came, and he enlisted, Sept., 1862, at Ellicottville, in Co. G, 154 N. Y. V. I., 2nd Brig, 2nd Div., 11th A. C., as a private, and in due time was made sergeant. He fought gallantly at Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Lookout Mountain, Mission Ridge, Rocky Face Ridge, Dalton, Marietta, New Hope Church. July 1, 1863, he was captured at Gettysburg and confined in Libby and Bell Isle for 31 days, and finally exchanged at Chattanooga. He was furloughed and came home, and was married, Sept., 1864, at Mansfield, to Mary P. Smith, daughter of Clark and Mary VanSchoieck Smith. One son was given to this union, Chester A. Deming, now living at Maples. In May, 1864, at New Hope Church, he was wounded in the right cheek by a gunshot; was in the field hospital for a time, and sent to Louisville for six weeks, thence to Dennison, then to Chattanooga, and joined his command at Goldsboro, N. C., where he was given his position in the company. When the war closed he was discharged, June 11, 1865, at Bladensburg, Md.
 Comrade Deming was a member of Henry VanAernam Post, Ellicottville. He had lived in Mansfield the greater part of his life; had lived in Ellicottville but a short time when he died.

Death of Chester M. Deming.

Chester M. Deming was a son of Luther and Sally Deming and was born in 1837, in Watertown, N. Y., and came to this county in 1838. He died in Ellicottville, Sept. 27, 1909.

He was engaged in farming when the call for volunteers came, and he enlisted, Sept., 1862, at Ellicottville, in Co. G, 154 N. Y. V. I., 2nd Brig, 2nd Div., 11th A. C., as a private, and in due time was made sergeant. He fought gallantly at Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Lookout Mountain, Mission Ridge, Rocky Face Ridge, Dalton, Marietta, New Hope Church. July 1, 1863, he was captured at Gettysburg and confined in Libby and Bell Isle for 31 days, and finally exchanged at Chattanooga. He was furloughed and came home, and was married, Sept., 1864, at Mansfield, to Mary P. Smith, daughter of Clark and Mary VanSchoick Smith. One son was given to this union, Chester A. Deming, now living at Maples. In May, 1864, at New Hope Church, he was wounded in the right cheek by a gunshot; was in the field hospital for a time, and sent to Louisville for six weeks, thence to Dennison, then to Chattanooga, and joined his command at Goldsboro, N. C., where he was given his position in the company. When the war closed he was discharged, June 11, 1865, at Bladensburg, Md.

Comrade Deming was a member of Henry VanAernam Post, Ellicottville. He had lived in Mansfield the greater part of his life; had lived in Ellicottville but a short time when he died.

WILLIAM LOUNSBURY.

William Lounsbury died at his home in this village, Saturday, Oct. 2nd, after a long illness. He was 65 years old, and leaves a wife and two sons, Joseph and Earl. Services were held at the Most Holy Name of Mary chapel, Monday, Father Rengel officiating. Burial in Holy Cross cemetery.

Mr. Lounsbury had long been a resident of Ellicottville, and by his genial ways had won a large circle of friends. Of late years illness had made sad havoc with his constitution and day by day he had grown weaker until death claimed him as a release from the struggle and burden-bearing of this life, and he entered into the life beyond the grave, where

No Details Yet.

No further particulars have been learned as to the death of James G. McMahon in Spain, and none are expected until the return of the party with which he was. It is understood that the body will be buried in Spain until such time as arrangements can be made with the Spanish officials and the transportation companies for its being brought back here.

The news of his death came as a great shock, not only to his relatives and intimate friends, but to the whole county as well, Mr. McMahon being widely known and respected. His death is a heavy blow to this community, and to the Democratic party at large, he having been prominently identified with political matters. He was not only part owner of the McMahon & Hickey store here, but also identified with the Ellicottville Milling Co., the Ellicottville Electric Light Co., and other business enterprises—a progressive man of the modern type.

A memorial service will be held at the Most Holy Name of Mary chapel, tomorrow at 10:30, at which Frs. Biden and Howard will assist.

The County Fair at Davis opera house, Monday and Tuesday evenings, by local talent, under the direction of Miss Stewart of the Bock Entertainment Co. was a decided success from beginning to end, and was well patronized. Ellicottville has a great deal of local talent along amusement lines and entertainments of this kind always take well here.

Under the new postal laws, publishers are compelled to insist on prompt payment of subscription accounts—one year being the limit for which credit may be given. The day of long subscription credits has gone by—and it is a good thing for all concerned—a benefit to both subscriber and publisher.

Marie, the eight-year-old daughter of Dwight Fisher and wife of Conewango Valley died, Monday night, of spinal meningitis. The child was ill but a few days. Besides the parents, three brothers and two sisters survive.—Salamanca Press. Mr. Fisher and wife formerly lived in this vicinity.

That well known comedy "A Pair of Country Kids," better than ever, will be at the Davis opera house next Wednesday for one night only.
