

JESSIE K. GREEN.

David and his good wife, Phoebe Brown Green, were rejoiced on the birth of a son, Jessie K., April 16, 1839, in Lackawanna, Pa. When the dark hall of Civil War covered our fair land, he enlisted, Sept. 6, 1862, at Hinsdale, N. Y., in Co. I, 154th N. Y. V. I., 1st Brig., 2d Div., 11th A. C. as a private. Before the close of his valued services he was made corporal and sergeant. With his heroic command he fought at Chancellorsville, Missionary Ridge, Lookout Mt., Wauhatchie Valley, and all engagements, Missions from Dalton to Resaca, 1863, at Chancellorsville, Comrade Green received three gunshot wounds, in fore arm, left hip and right side, and being left on the field he was captured, but on May 18th was paroled and sent to the Acqua Creek hospital, where he remained two weeks, from thence taken to Mansion House Hospital at Alexandria, and finally to convalescent and parole camp, Alexandria, remaining here until Sept., 1863. He rejoined his command at Bridgeport, Ala. In winter of 1863-4 he came home on a 30 day furlough, returning promptly at end of time to his regiment in Lookout Valley. At Resaca he was wounded in the left palm, losing his largest finger, by a gunshot, and as he dryly remarks, "The last ball I attempted to catch." He was taken to hospital at Nashville. At Cleveland, O., Feb. 6, 1866, he was discharged. He was first married to Helen M. Webster, by whom he had one child, Archie S. Was married secondly Mar. 17, 1873, at Otto, N. Y., to Lucy J. Tarbox, daughter of Jonathan and Rachel A. Tarbox. Nellie M. has graced this union. Mrs. Green was born on July 5, 1843 at Brokenstraw, Pa. Comrade Green has ably filled the office of Constable, Collector and School Trustee, and is one of the respected men of Hinsdale, N. Y.

MARTIN GREEN

Is a son of Jabez and Eliza Luther Green, and was born May 28, 1828 at Spencer, Mass. His early training was excellent, fitting him for a useful, manly life. At Milford, N. Y., Feb. 9, 1861, he was united in marriage to Henrietta S. Newell, daughter of Sylvester G. and Mary Ann Rider Newell. Mrs. Green was born April 22, 1831, at North Hampton, Mass. Four children were given to this union, Carrie E. (Henson), dec., Eddie L., dec., Nellie A. (Bathbone), and Mattie D. (Caverly). When our country was plunged into war and brave men were needed, our comrade left his shoe shop and, Sept. 5, 1864, enlisted as a landsman and was assigned to the gunboat Undine of the Miss. Squadron. While patrolling the Penn. River near Fort Henry, a rebel masked battery of Forrest's opened fire on them and the boat was captured; 22 of the crew escaped and for four days Mr. Green guided them over the Penn. mountains, without food, and they at last reached Johnsonville, then to Nashville and came home. Before the capture he was detailed on board to care for the wounded. After his return he reported for duty at New York to the gunboat Vermont, and received his honorable discharge Sept. 18, 1865, New York Navy Yards. Among his battles may be mentioned Johnsonville, Nashville, and constant skirmishing with the guerrillas of Forrest and Wheeler. His father was captain in a Mass. militia, and a brother Edwin, Jr. an Ill. reg't of Hooker's Corps, was on the March to the Sea. Mrs. Green's cousin, John Newell, was at Gettysburg. Our subject has been honored by public office, overseer of the poor, school trustee and J. of P. His wife is an Episcopalian, and they live in a quiet home in Hinsdale, N. Y.

GEORGE K. GREEN

Is a son of David and Lorrinda Warner Grey, and was born Aug. 13, 1839, at Napoli, N. Y. Exchanging the plowshare for the bayonet, he enlisted July 4, 1864, at Little Valley, in Co. A, 154th N. Y. V. I. as a private and in due time was made corporal. He shared the glory of this heroic regiment on many bloody fields, Chancellorsville, Chattanooga, Lookout Mt., Mission Ridge, Rocky Face Ridge, Dalton, Resaca, Pumpkinvine Creek, Kennesaw Mt., New Hope Church, Atlanta, March to the Sea, ending with the campaign in the Carolinas at Bentonville. May 3, 1865, at Chancellorsville, he was wounded by gunshot in right arm; was captured by the rebels and in 12 days paroled and sent to Alexandria; from thence was sent home and on exchange in Sept., 1863, went to his command in Lookout Valley. He was given his discharge June 11, 1865 at Hindsburg, Md., leaving the command with a noble record. July 3, 1866, at Goldspring, N. Y., he was married to Sarah R. Miner, daughter of Elinor T. and Sarah R. Barnum Miner. She was born May 26, 1846 at Napoli, N. Y. Four children have graced their home since, Emily R. (Howe), Nellie E., Bertha L., and Elida M. Nathan W. Grey, a brother, was in 64th N. Y. and served 6 months. Her grandfather Miner was a hero of the Revolution. Com. Grey and wife are members of the M. E. church and he is a member of A. A. Hall Post, 656. He lives on a farm in Napoli, N. Y.

GUSTAV'S GROVER,

A son of Louis and Abigail Willis Grover, was born in Conewango, N. Y., Feb. 29, 1841. He was peacefully engaged in farming in the town of his nativity when the war arose as a curse upon the country. He left the quiet home and entered the ranks of Co. K, 64th N. Y. V., in Sept., 1861 at Leon, N. Y. This regiment went to Elmira, and while there was sick with the measles, resulting in the total loss of his voice. Among his battles we name Fair Oaks, Seven Days' Retreat up to Harrison's Landing. June 1, 1862, he was wounded in hand at Fair Oaks, was sent to hospital at Norfolk for four weeks, from thence to New York City. With 6 other comrades he came home by leave of the provost-marshal, returning in May, 1863 to be discharged near Alexandria, Va. Com. Grover had suffered the dangers of the field, the pain during sickness and the wound received in action, all with that silent composure that has always characterized him. In Leon, N. Y., Nov. 7, 1861, Hannah E. Millman, daughter of Henry and Hannah Thomas Millman, was united in marriage to our subject. She was born Sept. 18, 1843 at Ossego, N. Y. Four children brightened their home, Frank A., Jennie, Charley M.; the last two are deceased. William and DeLoss Grover, his brothers, were in the service of the Civil War. Her great-grandfather was in the French and Indian war and was wounded by the Indians. Com. Grover is a farmer by occupation and one of the honored men of Conewango, N. Y.

AMOS A. HALL.

A son of Horace and Lydia (Rathbone) Hall, was born May 24, 1837 at Napoli, N. Y. He was first a machinist and later became a book-keeper, in which occupation he was engaged when the war of the Rebellion began. He enlisted in 1861 at Bush, N. Y. in Co. E, 9th N. Y. V. Cav. as a private. He left his wife whom he had married Sept. 4, 1861 at Randolph, N. Y., Frances C. (Jones) Hall, the daughter of Abner Perry and Lydia Scabury Jones, who was born June 1, 1842 at Goldspring, N. Y. His command was hurried to the front and participated in the following battles: Yorktown, Williamsburg, Centerville, Cedar Mt., Freeman's Ford, Great Run, 1st and 2d Sulphur Springs, Jones Ford, Deep Creek, 1st and 2d Salem, White Plains, Croxton, and Ball Run. While on the retreat from the Rapidan between Brandy Station and the river he was wounded in the knee by gunshot; it fractured his bone but he was compelled to ride seven miles with the foot in the stirrup. The agony of this awful ride almost exhausted him. He was sent to the Prindley Hospital at Washington and his faithful wife came to care for him and at last brought him home; after he convalesced he returned to the hospital at New York City and was there discharged. He was a faithful soldier, never flinching from duty and always in the thickest of the fight. Comrade Hall was a member of the I. O. O. F., and was the P. M. at E. Randolph for 17 years. It is with sadness we mention his death which occurred April 4, 1888 at E. Randolph, death resulting from spinal irritation, nervous prostration and paralysis. He left five children, Fred A., b. Aug. 5, 1861, Lewis C., b. Dec. 30, 1866, Cora Lynn, b. Mar. 27, 1869, George W., b. Jan. 8, 1872, and Charlie P., b. Jan. 7, 1876. Comrade Hall's three brothers were in the great Northern army. Horace, Marcus, and Leonard. Mrs. Hall's brothers were also active participants; Franklin C. Jones of Co. B, 64th N. Y. V. I., was wounded and captured, took a severe cold but by controlling his cough he managed to get well and was recaptured by the Union forces some time afterwards; the mother went and brought him home. Rev. O. D. Hubbard, the minister who had married Comrade Hall, offered one hundred dollars to the man of the 64th N. Y. who would during his service perform the most daring and courageous deed. Franklin C. was in the rifle pits, the ammunition gave out and he ran the whole length of the line, directly exposed to the fire of the Rebel sharpshooters, but as another comrade Albert Marsh was wounded he thought it would be best to give it to him. Melancton C. enlisted in the 64th N. Y., but was killed by the cars before entering the service. The first two brothers were captains in the army. The A. A. Hall Post of E. Randolph was named for our Comrade. Mrs. Hall is a kind cultured lady; she lives with her son, Charlie, at E. Randolph, N. Y.
